Separating work & personal on one device

14   How is BlackBerry addressing the need for companies to secure work content without impacting the user experience, for both personal (BYOD) and company-provided devices?

BlackBerry® Balance™ technology is significantly enhanced on BlackBerry 10 and is now built into the core operating system for an improved user experience. BlackBerry Balance gives your employees the freedom and privacy they want for their personal use while delivering the security and management you need for business use. It's the best of both worlds, seamlessly built into every BlackBerry® 10 smartphone and managed through BlackBerry Enterprise Service 10. Personal and work apps and information are kept separate, and the user can switch from their Personal Space to their Work Space with a simple gesture. The Work Space is fully encrypted, managed and secured, enabling organizations to protect critical content and applications, while at the same time letting users get the most out of their smartphone for their personal use.

BlackBerry Balance also enables the BlackBerry® World™ storefront on BlackBerry 10 devices, whereby organizations can push and recommend apps for use by employees in their Work Space.

a   I don't have BlackBerry Enterprise Service 10. Can I still use BlackBerry Balance and manually setup a Work Space on a device?

No, BlackBerry Balance is only available when activating a BlackBerry 10 device on BlackBerry Enterprise Service 10.

b   Is it possible to have multiple enterprise email accounts / profiles within the Work Space?

Currently it is only possible to have one enterprise profile and email account within the Work Space. Multiple ActiveSync accounts can be setup in the Personal Space on the device.

c   Can an administrator or user control how much storage space is used by the Work Space on a BlackBerry 10 device (e.g. set parameters to control % of space used by Work vs Personal space?

No, the amount of storage resources used is dynamic and is dependent on a number of factors.

d   Can you control which side of Balance certain features / apps operate?

No, Balance designation of apps and content is tightly controlled by the BlackBerry 10 operating system. However, organizations can use the application deployment and management capabilities built into BlackBerry Enterprise Service 10 and BlackBerry Balance to allow users to download specific apps to the Work Space on the device. For example, a user can freely use Twitter for personal use in their Personal Space and their company can whitelist Twitter so it is able to be installed in the Work Space (through BlackBerry World for Work) on the device as well (e.g. if an employee requires access to a corporate Twitter account).This helps organizations to ensure personal and company data and communications stay separate and secure.

e   Can Android apps be used in the Work Space?

No, Android apps are not supported in the Work Space. They can be downloaded and used only in the Personal Space.

f   If an administrator removes an application from the corporate application storefront (BlackBerry World for Work) will that app be removed from users devices that already have it installed?

Yes.

g   Will a work application that uses the camera store its output in the Work Space?

Yes, the output from any work application that utilises the camera API will store its output in the Work Space.

h   Can you restrict access of work network profiles (VPN, WLAN) to work apps and email/PIM only?

Yes, by blocking 'Personal Apps on Work Networks' administrators can restrict personal applications using work networks. Users also have the option to allow / disallow personal apps to use work networks, however the administrator can over-ride this to enforce a desired option.

i   Can you restrict cellular access to work apps and data only (corp paid plan)?

No.
